Ans. Apprecitation of Poem: In the poem 'Night of the Scorpion', the poet Nissim Ezekiel – of Indian Jewish origin – depicts the selfless love of a mother who is stung by a scorpion. This lengthy poem is devoid of a rhyme scheme. The noteworthy figures of speech are Simile, Metaphor, Alliteration and Onomatopoeia.

The poem has for its theme – the agony and trauma one faces when stung by a scorpion and the collective efforts by the kith and kin to remedy the situation. The mother is the most prominent figure in an Indian home. So all the attention is focused on her. They believe that prayer can ward off the evil influence. They are a set of superstitious people who believe that her suffering is caused by the sins she committed in the previous birth. They believe that her endurance will reduce the effect of her sins in the previous birth and it will also make her life happy in the next birth. According to their belief, the good and evil in the world has to be balanced and therefore her endurance of pain will reduce the amount of evil.

Ants always plan and prepare themselves in anticipation of an eventuality. Especially during summer, they make the best use of time and other resources at their disposal, thus paving the way ahead smoothly.

(B) Summary Writing [5]

Read the above passage given in Q. No. 4(A) and write a summary of it in a paragraph. Suggest a suitable title.

Ans. FIREFLIES AND THEIR UTILITY

Fireflies are beetles that go through several life stages, most of which are spent in the larval stage. There are 2000 different species – all go through a long juvenile stage and a short adult stage. Conserving them is very essential for human life as they serve several purposes. They are part of a food web and predators of agricultural pests. The bio-chemical reactions that they experience have been used in detecting bacterial contamination in food, testing drugs against cancer, developing drought-resistant crops and space explorations. They glow due to the reaction of oxygen, calcium, magnesium and luciferin. Firefly tourism is growing globally. We need to be cautious and protect them because they are harbingers of hope.

Q.5. Letter Writing

[5]

(A) Imagine you are Manav/Mira Sharma residing at B/12 'Snehkutir', M.G. Road, Nashik-422003

Formal Letter

Ans.

Manav Sharma,
B/12, 'Snehkutir',
M.G.Road,
Nashik - 422003,
4th March 2022.

The Chairman,
Rotary Club,
D.C. Road,
Nashik - 4220003.

Sir,

I, the undersigned, by means of this letter, wish to draw your attention to the growing achievements of young girls globally, particularly in our own nation.

It would be an ideal and generous gesture on the part of all Rotarians to felicitate these young achievers and thus show them not only our recognition of their work but also our support and encouragement.

May I suggest that, together with your team, you organize a programme at which these young girls can be given a token of appreciation and recognition for their work.

I am confident that you will be able to put up an enjoyable programme that will remain evergreen in their memories.

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

Manav Sharma

Informal Letter

Ans.

Mira Sharma,
B/12, 'Snehkutir',
M.G.Road, Nashik - 422003,
4th March 2022.

Dear Sanjay,

It has been quite some time now that we have not had a conversation at length. Hence I am writing this letter to you – to share my views on the importance of women in our society.

Women, as we are all well aware, have not been treated with the due respect that they deserve and have been considered inferior to their male counterparts, particularly here in our nation where they are often scorned and abused.

It is very essential for each one of us to understand primarily that we owe our existence to them. Women are God's creation much as men are and are collaborators in His plan of expanding the human race. But it has been over the ages that man, authoritatively made women submissive and have denied them their rightful place in society. Women are as gifted and talented as men are and can go about multi-tasking in their various roles as daughters, mothers, sisters, wives, friends, colleagues, etc. They must be treated with dignity and should be empowered so that they occupy a place of pride and prominence in our society.

Further, respect, gratitude and encouragement in all forms must be given to them at all times – especially the younger generation of girls who need to establish their identities and carve a niche for themselves. Hence, let us all resolve to treat women on par with men and thus show our solidarity and support towards them.

Do let me know your views on the same. I look forward to an early reply.

Regards to all at home.

Your loving friend,

Mira Sharma

Q.6. (A) Information Transfer[5]*A1 Verbal to Non-Verbal

Read the following information and complete the table given below. Give a suitable title.

Ans.A COMPARATIVE STUDY OF TURTLES AND TORTOISES

FEATURES	TURTLES	TORTOISE
HABITAT	Water	Land
PLACES FOUND IN	Africa and America	Asia, Africa and America
SHELL	Light and streamlined	Round, bumpy and heavy
LIFE SPAN	80 to 150 years	Maximum of 188 years

A2 Non-Verbal to VerbalAns.*TEENAGE PROBLEMS

Teenage life is often referred to as a period of storm and stress as they are often beset with problems that they find difficult to resolve. Due to the physical, mental and emotional changes, they are often stressed, and some who cannot de-stress themselves land into a state of depression. Often owing to their naivety there is abuse and bullying. Teenagers begin to reset their lifestyles and often end up with eating disorders and poor dietary habits. Under peer pressure, they resort to drinking and smoking – both of which are detrimental to their health. Teenagers are very conscious of their body image, and their self-esteem often drops. Competition among their friends, peers, colleagues, batch mates, etc. adds to their woes and keeps their morale low.

(B) View/Counterview (or) Drafting a Speech(5)*B1 Speech Writing

Prepare a speech to be delivered in your school assembly on the topic.

‘Giving is Receiving’

Ans.

Respected Headmaster, teachers and my dear fellow students,

I am indeed privileged, this morning, to share my views on Giving is Receiving.

At the outset, let me state that if you are blessed with the means to live a reasonably comfortable life, you have the ability to give. When you give to the less fortunate, you add to their lives – and by adding to theirs, you add to yours too. Perpetuating the cycle of giving makes the world a better, more humane place to live in. You may be giving for a reason which makes you feel good about yourself. Giving makes you happy. Seeing the smiles, gratitude and expressions of hope on the faces of those you are kind to makes the act of giving worthwhile. Even research suggests that giving leads to greater happiness for the giver. No matter how much or how little you can give, you have the power to touch the life of another person and you can affect them in ways you may never completely be aware of. There's so much that you can give. You can give your time, your warmth and friendship, a listening ear or a shoulder to lean on and, of course, you can give materially.

It is in giving that you contribute to making the world a nicer place. And make the lives of the less fortunate better, and thus, you receive the brightness of your own soul too.

Thank you for your rapt attention.

Shortcuts to success is a wrong choice

Ans.

I resolutely disagree with the statement that 'Shortcuts to success is not a wrong choice'. A shortcut often defeats the purpose to be achieved. It is generally followed by people who do not have principles or who have wrong principles in life. It is but natural that when shortcuts are taken to achieve a target or goal, the quality of work is bound to suffer and often may be less than satisfactory. Shortcuts in any piece of work or job limit creativity and retard growth of the thought process. The end result of work done by using shortcuts will not last long. Hence, I firmly affirm that shortcuts to success is a wrong choice.

Section VI : Creative Writing

Q.7. (A) Do any one of the following.

[5]

A1 Expand the theme

Expand the following idea into a paragraph of 100 words.

‘The time to be happy is now’.

Ans.

Time is a very important constraint in the hands of mankind. When time is put to adequate and effective use, it leads to success and thus brings happiness. Hence, it is wise to utilize the time at one’s disposal to the fullest rather than defer or wait for a better opportunity which may never come. Therefore, the time to be happy is in the present.

In our modern world of technology, there are several opportunities for us to be happy instantly by utilizing all available resources to the fullest or by exploring new avenues of accomplishment. It is better for us to keep ourselves happy in present times rather than live in expectation of higher levels of happiness in the times ahead.

A2 News Report

Prepare a news report based on the following.

Government encourage classrooms to go digital.

Ans.

Mumbai, 22nd February.

In a recent development in the education sector, the Government announced that digital teaching and learning must be encouraged in the classroom. This decision came in after much discussion and deliberation by a panel of experts comprising teachers, heads of institutions, academicians and associates with expertise in digital technology.

The panel considered the findings of various surveys which revealed that the use of digital technology in the teaching-learning process would be highly beneficial to students as they would gain access to a wider range of information. This will broaden their thinking and ultimately raise their intellectual level.

The Department of Education has been advised to work out a plan of action which would include a training programme of all those involved in the teaching-learning process, particularly the teachers who directly interact with the students in the classrooms. It is hoped that the quality of education will be enhanced effectively.

(B) Developing a story/Narrating experience [5]
Developing a Story

Ans. A DREAM THAT NEVER CAME TRUE

Raj was thrilled to get a VIP pass for the concert of his favourite singer Miss Poornima. He has been her fan for a long time ever since she began her career in singing. His joy knew no bounds, and all his friends and family were happy for him.

On the appointed day, he woke up early, though the concert was at 4 p.m. He groomed himself to the best, putting on fine clothes and well-polished shoes. He hoped to shoot pictures with Miss Poornima. The venue was a thirty-minute drive from his residence. Yet, he set out at 2 p.m. After driving a few kilometres, he turned onto the highway which led straight to the venue. Being overexcited, he began humming one of his favourite songs and lost focus on driving. Suddenly he lost control of himself and rammed into a parked jeep. He was badly injured and rushed to a nearby hospital.

Raj is now shattered, having missed the golden opportunity. Though he is slowly recovering, he is still overcome by sadness.

B2. Narrating an Experience

Narrate an experience in about 80-100 words with the following ending.

Ans. A DAY TO REMEMBER

I had never been as excited as I was that day – it was the first day of school after the prolonged ‘Covid’ break. I happily woke up and got ready for a school reunion of sorts. My mother was pleasantly shocked to see me in my school uniform and my school satchel neatly packed.

But, over-excitement got the better of me and I forgot to wear my mask when leaving home.

I hopped into an auto and set out for school. It was only when a traffic policeman emerged out of nowhere that I realised the blunder I had committed. He wouldn't listen to my pleas for pardon and demanded that I pay the fine. There I was, listening to how irresponsible I was being by not wearing my mask (it was true, of course). And when I told him that I was not carrying as much amount, he had me accompany him to the police station. The icing on the cake was that we bumped into our neighbour who not just rebuked me there but also went home and narrated the entire story to my mother. And hence I decided to never leave the house without my mask
